Our 18-month Management Training program provides a teaching and mentorship environment. You will receive hands-on, minds-on training that will give you the experience needed to work on the production floor and lead other employees in a manufacturing or distribution environment. Our most successful managers have a deep interest in manufacturing or distribution—its processes, equipment, quality control and customer service/satisfaction. Our managers will learn how to supervise and motivate hourly employees, lead by example, improve production processes, problem solve and deliver products and services that create intensely loyal customers. (One thing's for sure, you won't be sitting behind a desk all day.)
